

Ing. Andrej Štubňa

Position(s): Assistant Professor

Department: Department of Languages

Location: Faculty of Chemical and Food Technology, STU

Courses: Technical English I
Technical English II

About:

Andrej, originally from northern Slovakia, brings a rich academic and professional background to the table. With master's degrees in Scientific Human Nutrition from SPU Nitra and in Company Management from Collège des Ingénieurs and Sciences Po in Paris, he combines a unique blend of science and business expertise. A polyglot, he speaks English, French, German, Indonesian, and Malay fluently, and has conversational skills in Spanish and Russian.

Professionally, Andrej has diverse experience spanning both the public and private sectors, including leadership roles in industrial and engineering firms. Currently, he is pursuing a doctorate in biochemistry while sharing his expertise by teaching technical English in the language department.

In his rare moments of free time, Andrej enjoys training his dog, playing football, and delving into literature, with a particular fondness for French existentialists.